Remote Case Brief Video Script Writer (Temp FT, 6 Months)

Quimbee

Job Type: Full-time

Job Location(s): United States

Job Description:

Quimbee has a massive library of content designed to help law students and attorneys succeed, every step of the way. Not only do we help law students succeed in law school and on the bar exam, but Quimbee is also equally committed to building a premier collection of courses designed to satisfy attorneys' MCLE requirements. Quimbee can be accessed on desktop, tablet, and mobile devices. We are now seeking case brief video script writers to work with us on a temporary basis to help us on our journey. We are looking for writers who can commit full-time hours (or close to it). We expect this project will last approximately six months.

This position is 100% remote. All you need is an internet connection and a quiet place to work.

Overview

Quimbee has a huge database of case briefs and many of them include videos that our students love. We are seeking case brief script writers to help grow our database of videos. Our brilliant writers create content that educate and train future lawyers. In this capacity, you will serve as, in effect, a legal educator. This is a position of great trust and responsibility.

Duties

- Prepare case scripts based on summaries, utilizing a writing tone that is casual and narration friendly
- Participate in the editorial and video-production process

Who we're looking for

You're a really smart lawyer. This means you have a JD from a reputable law school. (If you're a law student, sorry, you'll need to wait a little longer to apply.) You graduated toward the top of your class. You're the kind of person your fellow law students would hire to represent them.

You're an incredible legal writer. Ideally, you served on a law journal (law review would be even better). If you got something published, then that's extra points. You're a stickler for grammar. Your friends make fun of you, but you wear it as a badge of honor. You understand that less is more, details matter, and small words are better than big words.

You're a detail-oriented, tech-savvy, self-starter: You're comfortable with technology generally and eager to learn. You're disciplined and motivated and the kind of person who doesn't need someone looking over your shoulder to make sure you're doing your job.

You're a fun person: You don't lose your cool. You bring out the best in the people around you. You don't take yourself too seriously. You can make and take a joke.

Requirements

- A JD from a U.S. law school
- Graduate of an ABA approved law school
- Professional experience in legal publishing and/or legal education
- Native fluency in English
- Attention to detail
- Strong feelings about the Oxford comma
- Excellent communication skills
- High-speed internet connection

Benefits

- Salary: $80,000
- 100% remote. That's one of the biggies. No more commute!
- The option to participate in our group health-insurance coverage.
- 401k matching up to 4% (100% matching up to 3% and 50% between 3% and 5%) after 90 days
- Unlimited paid time off (after 90 days). Our philosophy is that if you feel you need time off (for example, because of overwork, sickness, personal matters, etc.), we're not going to question that. Position Type: Fellowship

Description:

Pacific Legal Foundation Fellowships

You: A law-school graduate, a confident and entrepreneurial freedom fighter with a passion for battling onerous government. You're looking for an opportunity to work with the best liberty lawyers in the nation, immerse yourself in the nuts-and-bolts of public-interest law, and study the legal and philosophical principles of the liberty movement.

Them: Bureaucrats, city councils, mayors, governors, and federal agencies stripping Americans of their rights every day. There's a lot of government overreach out there, and it's backed by seemingly endless resources. But fortunately, like all lumbering giants, abusive government is most vulnerable when countered by individuals who act strategically and nimbly, take calculated risks, have each other's backs, and are confident in and passionate for the cause—the very sort of swashbucklers we employ in spades here at PLF.

Us: We fight back. Pacific Legal Foundation is the nation's first and most successful public interest law firm dedicated to vindicating individual liberty. PLF has an unmatched record in the United States Supreme Court, with 14 victories out of 16 cases litigated at the Court—so far. We have more than a hundred active cases across the nation, and a growing number of legislative and administrative policy wins.

We are a next-generation public interest law firm. What does "next generation" mean for a legal nonprofit? It means we aren't interested in doing the same thing as everyone else. We aspire to be the best player in a constantly changing game.

Here's what you get to do in this role:

You will be a "PLF Fellow," a one-year position for law-school graduates. You will be added to litigation teams in on-going cases, receive hands-on legal-research and legal-writing training, and study the Classical Liberal principles that guide our work. You will also be encouraged and expected to take on additional challenges, including case development and communications efforts.

You will work on teams with junior and senior attorneys, adding your skills and perspective in order to elevate our team's ability to win important victories for liberty. You will have the latitude to think big and the resources to execute. You will be at the forefront of shaping the law for all Americans.

In a nutshell, we're seeking a young lawyer who's passionate about individual liberty, property rights, and administrative law, someone who is confident and magnanimous, and someone who is a bold and relentless freedom fighter.

Getting down to brass tacks, your specific job duties will likely include:

- Helping us win public-interest cases! Immersing yourself in the details of assigned cases, working closely with PLF's litigators, and finding creative ways to promote liberty.

- Advocating for individual liberty, property rights, and the separation of powers both philosophically and practically. Speaking with organizations, trade groups, academia, and media to advance PLF's strategic environmental law goals.

- Writing persuasive pieces for both scholarly and lay audiences. Drafting op-eds, journal articles, and blog posts.

- Working with other attorneys as you battle and set the agenda for PLF's public-interest practice.

This role is ideal for someone who is passionate about liberty and wants to get a crash-course in public-interest law and one with:

- a demonstrated interest in property rights, environmental law, and separation of powers;
- outstanding interpersonal communications skills; and
- a knowledge of and passion for the ideas of freedom and individual liberty.

GENERAL INFORMATION

Pacific Legal Foundation identifies and litigates important legal issues to set landmark precedents that will benefit Americans nationwide. Using strategic and principled litigation, communications, and research, we battle for freedom in the nation's courts and the court of public opinion.

As a national nonprofit organization, PLF has brick-and-mortar offices in Sacramento, CA; Arlington, VA; and Palm Beach Gardens, FL, though approximately half of the staff work from home across the country.

This is a one-year, full-time position. PLF is committed to recruiting and retaining the highest-quality talent available nationwide, and we offer a competitive compensation package. We have a flexible, collaborative, positive, and collegial work environment. We take pride in investing in your future and encourage internal advancement. PLF is the place for someone principled, tenacious, and determined to succeed in positively shaping the future of our country and restoring real limits on government power. Join us.

TO APPLY:

If you think you might be a good fit, submit the following application materials in one PDF at the link below.

- Your resume, including your experience in the liberty movement and relevant professional experience.

- A cover letter explaining why PLF is the place for you, why you want to fight for liberty, and what distinguishes you from typical applicants.

Temp (6-months) Full-time Case Brief Writer- Always Remote
Quimbee

Job Type: Full-time

Job Location(s): United States

Job Description:

Quimbee has a massive library of content designed to help law students and attorneys succeed, every step of the way. Not only do we help law students succeed in law school and on the bar exam, but Quimbee is also equally committed to building a premier collection of courses designed to satisfy attorneys' MCLE requirements. Quimbee can be accessed on desktop, tablet, and mobile devices. We are now seeking case brief writers to help us on our journey.

This position is 100% remote. All you need is an internet connection and a quiet place to work.

Overview

We are looking for exceptional legal writers who want to help Quimbee grow its database of case summaries. Our brilliant writers create content that educate and train future lawyers. In this capacity, you will serve as, in effect, a legal educator. This is a position of great trust and responsibility.

How it works

We'll mail you a law school casebook. You'll brief some (maybe all) of the cases in it. We'll give you writing guidelines that you must follow. That's about it.

Who we're looking for:

You're a really smart lawyer. This means you have a JD from a reputable law school. (If you're a law student, sorry, you'll need to wait a little longer to apply.) You graduated toward the top of your class. You're the kind of person your fellow law students would hire to represent them.

You're an incredible legal writer. Ideally, you served on a law journal (law review would be even better). If you got something published, then that's extra points. You're a stickler for grammar. Your friends make fun of you, but you wear it as a badge of honor. You understand that less is more, details matter, and small words are better than big words.

Qualifications

* JD required.

* Excellent legal writing skills.

Associate Attorney, Fossil Fuels Program (Remote Available)

Earthjustice

Job Location(s):

New Orleans, Louisiana United States

Chicago, Illinois United States

Job Description:

Earthjustice is the premier nonprofit environmental law organization. We take on the biggest, most precedent-setting cases across the country. We wield the power of law and the strength of partnership to protect people's health; to preserve magnificent places and wildlife; to advance clean energy; and to combat climate change. We partner with thousands of groups, supporters, individuals and communities to engage the critical environmental issues of our time, and bring about positive change. We are guided by a passionate, ambitious vision for the future for people and our planet: until justice stands for all, we will never rest. We are here because the earth needs a good lawyer.

Founded in 1971, Earthjustice has a distinguished track record of achieving significant, lasting environmental protections. We achieve this by hiring people who share a passion for justice and a healthy environment. Our headquarters are in San Francisco with offices in Anchorage, Juneau, Los Angeles, Tallahassee, Honolulu, New York, Philadelphia, Denver, Seattle, Bozeman, Miami and Washington, DC.

Earthjustice is accepting applications for two Associate Attorneys to join our Fossil Fuels Program. We use the power of the law to challenge the onslaught of new oil and gas infrastructure development that threatens climate, communities and our environment. Both positions will work cross-regionally with a focus on either the U.S. Gulf region or the Ohio River Valley, with one position based in New Orleans, Louisiana and the other in Chicago, Illinois.

At a time when we desperately need to reduce greenhouse emissions, the oil and gas industry is aggressively expanding fossil fuel infrastructure, locking us into decades of future fossil fuel use and directly harming communities already hardest hit by climate disruption. Earthjustice's Fossil Fuels program uses litigation, administrative advocacy, and partnership to advance an end to U.S. oil and gas extraction and production, and stop new infrastructure (e.g., petrochemical facilities, export terminals and pipelines).

The Associate Attorney program is designed to help attorneys who are in the early stages of their careers to develop into thoughtful, professional, and effective advocates skilled in the various phases of public interest litigation. The term for the associate position is three-years with the potential for an extension.

Responsibilities:

- Work with program staff and clients to investigate, develop, and litigate cases.
- Participate in the full range of tasks involved in litigation, including factual investigation, legal research, memo writing, comments, briefing, discovery, and oral advocacy.
- Review and analyze administrative records and technical documents, and prepare comments on proposed agency actions, permits, and environmental review documents.
- Engage with clients, coalition partners, and experts, as well as internal communications and legislative staff.
- Hire and supervise law students who work at Earthjustice as interns or clerks.

Qualifications:

- Admitted to, or eligible for admission to the Louisiana Bar for the New Orleans-based position or the Illinois Bar for the Chicago-based position.
- 1-5 years of post-graduate litigation and/or clerkship experience.
- Excellent legal research, writing and analytical skills.
- Strong work ethic and initiative, and sound yet creative judgment.
- Ability to work well both independently and with a team.
- Strong desire to fight for the right of all to a healthy environment.
- Demonstrated awareness and sensitivity to the needs and concerns of individuals from diverse cultures, backgrounds and orientations.
- Commitment to help create a diverse, equitable, and inclusive work culture that encourages and celebrates differences.
- Willingness to contribute to recruiting, hiring, developing and retaining a diverse and inclusive workforce.

We offer a mission- and employee-focused work environment and a competitive compensation package, including excellent benefits. Earthjustice is an equal opportunity employer and highly values diversity.

Salary is based on experience and location.

Salary range in New Orleans, LA: 1-5 years $76,200 - $93,400

Salary range in Chicago, IL: 1-5 years $85,100 - $104,400
