

Shine Tu

Prior to joining the faculty at the WVU College of Law Associate Professor Shine (Sean) Tu was an associate with Foley & Lardner LLP and was a member of the firm's Chemical, Biotechnology & Pharmaceutical Practice, and the Life Sciences and Nanotechnology Industry Teams.

Dr. Tu was previously a summer associate in Foley & Lardner's Washington, D.C. office as part of the Patent Law group. Prior to joining Foley, Dr. Tu worked as a research assistant for Judge Richard A. Posner of the United States Court of Appeals for the Seventh Circuit.

Dr. Tu was granted the National Research Service Award as part of his post-doctoral fellowship. He was a postdoctoral fellow at the La Jolla Institute for Allergy and Immunology under the guidance of Dr. Doug Green. He also received his Ph.D. in Pharmacology from the College of Veterinary Medicine at Cornell University.

Dr. Tu received his law degree, with honors, from the University of Chicago Law School, (J.D., 2008). He received his graduate degree (Ph.D., 2003) from Cornell University Graduate School, in pharmacology and cancer cell biology. Dr. Tu earned bachelor's degrees in both chemistry and microbiology from the University of Florida (B.S./B.S., 1997).

Dr. Tu is a registered patent attorney who can practice before the United States Patent & Trademark Office in patent cases. He is admitted to practice in the District of Columbia and Virginia.